

Commercial disputes

Lawson-West's dedicated team of disputes resolution specialists can help you manage legal disputes effectively. Our aim is to help business owners, shareholders and directors to understand the legal options available at every step of a dispute and to be supportive throughout negotiations. We provide strong expert legal advice.

If you have a business dispute with a third party, supplier, or someone from within the business itself, you may have little time available or experience to know the best route to take to achieve the best outcome.

We provide the following dispute resolution legal services and aim to limit your business's exposure and risk, helping you to get on with running your business:

Relationships with third parties

- Terms of business
- Supplier & outsourcing agreements
- Joint venture arrangements
- Business sale and purchase contracts

Relationships with people

- Shareholder agreements
- Partnership agreements
- Employment contracts
- Employee disputes

We can also help with lease disputes, possession claims and insolvency matters.
